FUN FACTS

The 1st bartender guide was published in 1862

The most expensive cocktail in the world costs $22,579

The term 'happy hour' comes from the US Navy

The Old-Fashioned is often cited as one of the oldest known cocktails, dating back to the early 1800s. It consists of whiskey, sugar, bitters, and a twist of citrus rind.

The term "cocktail" first appeared in print in 1806. It was defined as a mixture of spirits, sugar, water, and bitters.

During the Prohibition era in the United States (1920-1933), cocktails became more popular as bartenders used sweeteners and juices to mask the taste of poorly made, illegal alcohol.

The phrase "shaken, not stirred" is famously associated with James Bond and his preference for martinis. Shaking a cocktail can change its texture and dilution, making it colder and slightly frothy compared to stirring.

Tiki cocktails, like the Mai Tai and Zombie, became popular in the mid-20th century. They often feature rum, tropical fruits, and elaborate garnishes, inspired by Polynesian culture and aesthetics.
